The novel is set in a future where artificial intelligence (AI) has become so advanced that it is indistinguishable from human beings. The protagonist, Evangeline, is a young woman who works for a company that creates AI Companions. These Companions are designed to be perfect friends and companions, and they can learn and adapt to their owners' needs and desires.

Evangeline is initially skeptical of AI, but she begins to change her mind after she meets a Companion named Laurence. Laurence is unlike any other Companion she has ever met. He is intelligent, compassionate, and capable of independent thought.

As Evangeline spends more time with Laurence, she begins to question her own beliefs about AI. She starts to wonder if AI Companions are truly just machines, or if they are something more.

Providence Max Barry is a well-written and thought-provoking novel that explores the complex ethical and philosophical issues surrounding AI. Barry does not offer any easy answers, but he does challenge readers to think about the implications of AI for our own lives and for the future of humanity.
