In 1980, the Legion was given their own ongoing series, which was published by DC Comics. The series was initially written by Paul Levitz and Keith Giffen and illustrated by Pat Broderick and Curt Swan. The series was a critical and commercial success, and it helped to bring the Legion to a new generation of fans.

The Legion of Super-Heroes series ran for 264 issues until it was canceled in 1989. During that time, the series underwent several creative changes, including the of new members and the departure of old ones. However, the Legion's core mission of protecting the United Planets remained the same.

The Legion of Super-Heroes has had a large and ever-changing roster of members over the years. However, there are a few core members who have been with the team since its inception. These members include:

- Superman (Clark Kent): Superman is the Legion's most powerful member and their de facto leader. He is a Kryptonian who was sent to Earth as a baby.
- Supergirl (Kara Zor-El): Supergirl is Superman's cousin and she is also a Kryptonian. She is a powerful superheroine in her own right.
- Brainiac 5 (Querl Dox): Brainiac 5 is a brilliant scientist from the planet Colu. He is the Legion's resident genius and he often provides the team with valuable insights and inventions.
- Saturn Girl (Imra Ardeen): Saturn Girl is a telepath from the planet Saturn. She is a powerful superheroine and she is also a valuable member of the team's leadership.
- Lightning Lad (Garth Ranzz): Lightning Lad is a powerful lightning wielder from the planet Winath. He is a hot-headed and impulsive hero, but he is also a loyal and dedicated member of the team.

- Cosmic Boy (Rokk Krinn): Cosmic Boy is a magnetic force wielder from the planet Braal. He is a strong and courageous hero and he is also a natural leader.

In addition to these core members, the Legion of Super-Heroes has also had many other members over the years. These members have included heroes from all over the galaxy, and they have brought a wide range of powers and abilities to the team.

The Legion of Super-Heroes has been involved in many major storylines over the years. Some of the most notable storylines from the team's golden age include:

- The Great Darkness Saga (1982-1983): In this storyline, the Legion faced off against the Great Darkness, a powerful cosmic entity that threatened to destroy the universe. The Legion was able to defeat the Great Darkness with the help of Superman and Supergirl.
- The Crisis on Infinite Earths (1985): In this storyline, the Legion was involved in a massive cosmic crisis that threatened to destroy all of reality. The Legion played a key role in defeating the Anti-Monitor, the villain who was responsible for the crisis.
- The Magic Wars (1985-1986): In this storyline, the Legion was involved in a war between the forces of good and evil. The Legion fought alongside the forces of good and they were able to defeat the forces of evil.

These are just a few of the many major storylines that the Legion of Super-Heroes has been involved in over the years. The team has faced many challenges and they have always emerged victorious. The Legion of Super-Heroes is a true symbol of hope and inspiration, and they will continue to be a beloved superhero team for generations to come.
